Nottingham Summer Schools 2020 set to go online

Though we will not be able to run our Nottingham Summer Schools on a residential basis this year, we are still selecting cohorts and will be offering them an online programme that will provide an insight into degree course options, student life and the University of Nottingham. Students will undertake academic sessions and have the opportunity to speak with current university students. Completion of the alternative programme will carry the same benefits as the residential. We will be contacting all applicants by 30 April 2020 with the outcomes of their applications.

Please contact us at summer-school@nottingham.ac.uk if you have any questions.
